Some thoughts from Liz Lloyd, Herefordshire Rural Hub Chair

'For me, memories of 'the good old days' include some great days at the Three Counties Show. Its 100th Anniversary was celebrated this year and there's the Royal Welsh and Kington later on. The Food and Drink Festival at the Three Counties included some – but nowhere enough – local enterprises each offering tasty products but they were too thin on the ground. How shy we are in Herefordshire of showing off our competence in the particular areas of the finished product. We do well in the farming skills sections but, as for added value products, we're far too understated and easily overlooked.'

Good to know!

what3words is the simplest way to talk about location!

Street addresses and post codes aren't always accurate. This can make it hard to find places and can prevent people from describing exactly where help is needed in an emergency.

what3words divided the world into 3 metre squares and gave each square a unique combination of three words. It's the easiest way to find and share exact locations. It's proving popular with the emergency services and can prove very useful in rural areas. The app is free to download and easy to use. Animal transport authorisations

If you move animals more than 65km as part of your business activity or for trade you must have a transport authorisation issued by APHA (Animal and Plant Health Agency). Animal transport authorisations last for five years. A significant number are due for renewal in 2022. The APHA is reminding transporters to apply for renewal as early as possible before their current authorisation expires to ensure you can continue to operate. It will not cost you anything to renew your authorisation but transporting animals without the correct authorisation carries heavy penalties.

Animal gathering licences

If you want to hold an animal gathering, the premises must have an Animal Gatherings Order \(AGO\) licence from Animal and Plant Health Agency (APHA).

An animal gathering is when certain species of animals (see below) are brought together from different places:

- to be sold
- to be sent elsewhere (for example, for slaughter)
- for show or exhibition
- to be inspected for breed characteristics (for example, to assess pedigree status)

The animal species include:

- cattle (excluding bison and yak)

- sheep
- pigs
- deer
- goats

Gatherings of poultry and other captive birds are not licensed in the same way but must be registered. See the bird gathering general licence. You must have an animal gathering licence if your gathering involves poultry/captive birds and any of the animals listed above.

If you are a farmer, land manager or contractor who uses slurry or manure, you are invited to take part in this survey (click the link above to take part) which explores the benefits and challenges to farmers of adopting practices that reduce ammonia emissions on farms.

Farmers and landowners could receive a diversification boost next year as planning regulations governing temporary campsites may change.

Chief Planner Joanna Averley has announced a consultation on a new permitted development right to support pop-up camping for summer 2023.

She called on authorities to take a 'positive approach' to planning applications for new campsites, to support tourism and hospitality services in local areas.

If successful, the consultation is likely to lead to an extension in the length of time farmers and other landowners can operate temporary campsites on their land without having to apply for planning permission. Full details at Farminguk here.

Working in or near a river or stream? Get the right consents in place...

We have received a lot of enquiries about maintenance to watercourses after the incident on the Lugg at Kingsland last year. The types of consent you require will vary depending on the type of watercourse, type of activity and whether it is protected by designations like the main stem of the Wye & Lugg which are both Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI). Things to remember when planning works:

- If it is a designated site you will need SSSI consent from Natural England or confirmation that the activity is exempt.
- If you are on a main river or "ordinary watercourse" you may need a flood risk consent or exemption from Herefordshire Council and or the Environment Agency.
